

Wrap N' Go Concept

Product or Service Description:

Wrap N' Go is a food brand that focuses on serving burrito-style wraps that are freshly prepared and easy to carry. The main idea of the brand is to provide quick meals for people who do not have enough time to sit down and eat. Each wrap contains a combination of meat or vegetables, sauces, and fresh ingredients that are balanced in flavor and filling. The product is designed to be practical, convenient, and suitable for everyday consumption.

Target Market:

The target market of Wrap N' Go includes students, office workers, and individuals with busy lifestyles. These are people who often look for affordable and quick meal options. The brand is also suitable for customers who prefer portable food that can be eaten while traveling, studying, or working.

Brand Identity:

Wrap N' Go presents a modern and fresh brand identity. The brand uses green as its main color to represent freshness and natural ingredients, while orange is used to show warmth and appetite appeal. The design style includes brush effects and simple elements that make the brand look clean but still visually interesting. The overall identity of the brand is friendly, energetic, and practical.

Brand Positioning:

Wrap N' Go is positioned as a fast and convenient food brand that focuses on delivering freshly made wraps for people on the go. Compared to traditional fast food brands, Wrap N' Go highlights speed, portability, and simplicity. The goal is to be recognized as a reliable option for quick meals anytime.

Competitive Advantage:

Wrap N' Go stands out through its focus on convenience and practicality. The brand offers meals that are easy to carry and quick to consume. It also provides a variety of flavors such as chicken, beef, and veggie wraps. The packaging is designed to support on-the-go consumption, making it suitable for busy customers.

